

HESS MEAT MACHINES

Equipment. Service. Supplies. Solutions.

Keep your staff happy and engaged with a customized Hess training program

Turnover is one of the largest obstacles in the food service industry as of late. In fact, a recent report from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that the accommodation and food service industry experienced a turnover rate of 107% in February 2022, among one of the highest rates in the over 25 industries listed. With such a frightening statistic in play, how can food service businesses combat this major issue?

With more than 75 years of industry experience, Hess Meat Machines has learned that providing comprehensive training and regular retraining can mean the difference between a disgruntled, chaotic kitchen staff and a confident, happy team.

We are here to help your kitchen stay calm, cool, and collected with onsite training to keep your machines running smoothly and help your team stay up to date on any equipment changes. We'll keep you humming along through spring, summer, and beyond!

Find out how investing in a personalized Hess training program can benefit your team and help reduce turnover in our latest blog post.
